TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I, Gana Kiritharan, would like to bring your kind attention of an organized conspiracy I am experiencing into my financial and Intellectual life and the civil action I have filed against a Canadian Bank (TD Canada Trust), who may be an important part of this conspiracy and have some important evidences. I came to Canada in 1999 with a dream to become a writer. I wrote my first book after one year coming here and it is got published in 2003 and now runs 5th success year of sales. (Please visit www.gkiri.com for more information about the book). Unfortunately I had to face some organized conspiracy when coming to royalty payment. Someone else opened an account in my name in TD Canada Trust criminally and cashed my royalty cheques.

When I realized this issue and started to search for legal help, tellers at TD Canada Trust printed some additional information on the back of the Transaction Slip (Voucher) I signed. I was prevented from looking at this additional information. According to Court order bank still has to produce two of the original of Transaction Records (or Slips). These Transaction Records or Additional Papers attached to it may contain some printed information regarding Royalty belong to me.

Also when I defaulted my Line of Credit with TD Canada Trust after 7 months the Line of Credit Account gets closed as Follows:

Date	Transaction Details	Amount	Balance
10/19/2005	Collection Item	11,611.72 CR
10/19/2005	Close Account	0.00 DR	0.00

Above Transaction Reported in my TransUnion Credit Report as follows "Balance 0.00, Closed on Consumer Request." Even when I asked TransUnion for accuracy of their report they did not make any change for the way it is being reported. Though bank tries to argue this means that the Bank "Written-Off" the account, bank failed to produce any evidences for their argument and the truth is "Money was Collected Towards" my Line of Credit. Bank account details should be able to tell from where this money was Collected from.

Also when my Chequing account with TD started to become Over Draft due to some accounting charges, after 4 months the Account gets closed as Follows:

Date	Transaction Details	Amount	Balance
06/28/2005	Collection Item	107.30 CR
06/28/2005	Close Account	0.00 DR	0.00

TD Canada Trust may try to argue this also means that the Bank "Written-Off" the account. But TD Canada Trust eventually should tell where all these money were Collected from.

Also when I stopped payments for my TD Emerald Visa Card bank supposed to Write-Off the account in 180 Days (6 Months). In Court Documents TD Canada Trust say they Written-Off the account in 240 Days (8 Months). But Evidence (Account Details Provided by TD Canada Trust and TransUnion Credit Report) indicate account was Written-Off only after 540 Days (18 Months). This may be because the concealed account (or Any other form of Assert) provided security for my Visa Card loan amount. The money was in concealed account may have been disposed Illegally before write-off of the Visa account.

I tried to communicate with TD Canada Trust regarding this issue between 12th March 2007 and 17th October 2007. When I failed to receive responsible explanations I filed a Civil Claim on 18th October 2007 in Ontario Civil Court asking complete account details managed under my name in TD Canada Trust. Details of Civil Action is KIRITHARAN VS TD CANADA TRUST, Court File Number: 07-CV-341987PD 2. If you like to know more about the Case you can contact me and I am happy to provide more information to you.

As the incident happened may be violation of several sections of Canadian Criminal Cord, I made a police complain to Toronto Police Department regarding this matter. The complain number is: Fraud Complaint # 2529262. But Police failing to make further inquiry saying

1. Opening a Bank account in another person name impossible in Canada.
2. Whether my Line of Credit is Paid or Written-Off is a Civil Matter between me and Bank.
3. As the Opening of Account may have happened in Ottawa, it is difficult for them to investigate.

I filed the case without lawyer. When TD Canada Trust failed to produce documents as needed by law, I requested court intervention and Court issued two orders. Even after that TD Canada Trust fails to make full disclosure and failing to respect some court orders. This delaying tactics by TD Canada Trust, not only causing unnecessary financial burden for me but also causing stress and depression. For last one year I am diagnosed with depression and under medical care for it. In order to continue this action and seek truly what happened to my Royalty Cheques, I now decided to go to Public and ask for Psychological Support, Moral Support and Financial Support.

You Can Support me on Following ways:

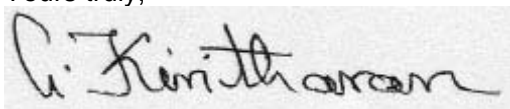

1. If you are a TD Canada Trust customer or a Person who has the responsibility to Investigate Banking activity in Canada, You can contact TD Canada Trust and help me to get answer for following questions:
 - A. What is the explanation for Accounting Abbreviation "Collection Item" and What is the Accounting Abbreviation for "Write-Off"?
 - B. Whether a Responsible Accounting Personal should sign any document before Writing-Off a default loan account? If yes, what is the name of that document?
 - C. Whether TD Canada Trust has any Policy Documents regarding account keeping for Personal Banking and Default Account? If yes what is the name of the Document? Whether customers have rights to inspect that document?
2. Because of these harassments, I am depressed and de-motivated to continue my intellectual works. Your can send me supporting letter for my cause, which may give me Psychological and Moral Support to continue the Civil Action against TD Canada Trust to seek Truth and continue Intellectual Works. Regarding such letters I like to inform following issues to you:
 - A. I am planning to upload such letters into my Website. I may display such letters as evidence in Court as a result the letters may eventually become public. If you do not want your letter to become public Please mention it clearly on the top of the letter.
 - B. Depending on my financial situation I will send an acknowledgment either immediately or after winning the case. If you fail to receive the acknowledgement, it means some body steals my letters with intention to cause damage (S. 356 of Canadian Criminal Code). If it is confirmed we can approach Canadian Police Department asking to investigate.
3. To continue this Civil action and continue my intellectual works I am in a situation to ask financial support also from Canadian Public. I like to inform following issues regarding any financial support.
 - A. I will keep complete account details of money I received and the way I spend it.
 - B. I will make this account details Public through my web site. But I will not make the name of the people sending the money Public.
 - C. If requested by Court (Probably not), I will disclose this money details to the court.
 - D. I will not be able to make refund of the Money I received. But, If I win the Case I will donate the amount I received from Public to a Canadian Charity I chose.
 - E. The money received may be used for Legal Expenses, Essential Expenses to continue my Intellectual Works and to some extent support my personal life. (About Gana Kiritharan's Personal life, He is a single person, do not have a family or girl friend, do not have a Car, Do not smoke or Drink and planning not to involve any of this activity Until this problem is solved.)
 - F. You can send the money as Cheque or Draft. If so please send them by registered mail as it may prevent any group misappropriating the mail.
 - G. You can send the money directly to Gana Kiritharan's account. Details of the account as follows:

National Bank of Canada	4040 Finch Ave East, Scarborough ON M1S 4V5 Canada.	Gana Kiritharan' s Account Number
006	03331	00-947-02

- H. I am also planning to go on Public and Beg for Money for this purpose. (Please see attached Document.)

I would like to thank you for your time reading my material and for your understanding and support in this case.

Yours truly,

Gana Kiritharan.

Mr. Gana Kiritharan
307 – 10 Stonehill Court
Scarborough, ON M1W 2X8

Dear Mr. Kiritharan:

Thank you for your recent letter to the Superintendent of Financial Institutions concerning TD Canada Trust. Superintendent Julie Dickson has asked that I reply on her behalf.

The Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions (OSFI) is responsible for the regulation and supervision of federally registered financial institutions. We monitor and examine financial institutions for solvency, liquidity and safety and soundness.

Although I realize that you are experiencing a great deal of stress, I regret to inform you that OSFI does not have the authority to intervene in contractual disputes between a federally regulated financial institution and its customers. Pursuant to section 22 of the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions Act, we cannot provide or disclose confidential information obtained from a financial institution, or regarding persons dealing with the financial institution, as this information is to be treated as confidential and may not be disclosed to a third party.

Similarly, we are not in a position to opine on a financial institution's internal procedures.

I note from your correspondence that you have taken legal proceedings against TD Canada Trust. Therefore, any information you require from the company should be obtained as part of the court proceedings (i.e., discovery).

Although I know this explanation may not help to ease your concerns, I hope that it will clarify OSFI's role in this matter.

Sincerely,

Dear Gana Kiritharan:

Thank you for your correspondence regarding your dealings with The Toronto-Dominion Bank (TD Bank).

First, let me begin by explaining the role and mandate of the Financial Consumer Agency of Canada (FCAC). FCAC oversees federally regulated financial institutions to ensure that they comply with federal consumer protection laws, regulations, codes of conduct and public commitments.

Although FCAC appreciates the seriousness of your concerns, it has no jurisdiction over fraud, contractual disputes or the day-to-day operations and decisions of banks. Banks determine their own policies and procedures with respect to the servicing of customers and their accounts.

As you know, fraud falls within the jurisdiction of the police, which I note that you have contacted.

FCAC's role is to deal with compliance with the law; for consumers to obtain individual redress or compensation for losses, consumers must follow a bank's complaint-handling process. By law, all banks must have a process to help resolve disputes with their customers. In addition, the process offers the possibility of having the matter reviewed by an independent third party called the Ombudsman for Banking Services and Investments. I enclose a copy of TD Bank's process for your reference. Alternatively, consumers can also seek redress through a court of law, which it appears that you are now doing.

If you require legal advice, you may wish to contact a lawyer. The Law Society of Upper Canada offers a lawyer referral service for individuals who have questions about their legal rights. For $6, the service provides you with the name of a lawyer who will offer up

If you have concerns about the handling of your credit history by the credit-reporting agencies, you may wish to contact the provincial regulator. In Ontario, you can contact the Ministry of Government and Consumer Services. You can visit the Ministry's consumer protection page at http://www.gov.on.ca/mgs/en/ConsProt/STEL02_045975.html, call 1-800-889-9768 (toll-free), or e-mail cbsinfo@cbs.gov.on.ca.

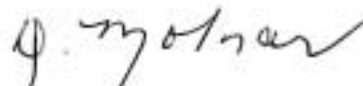

To submit a complaint, you can use the Ministry's online complaint form at http://www.gov.on.ca/mgs/en/Contact/STEL01_045739.html or write to:

For your future reference, as part of FCAC's consumer education mandate, we publish a number of free brochures, reports, and guides to help Canadians. I enclose our booklet entitled Understanding your Credit Report and Credit Score as it provides important information about credit reports and scores, as well as how to correct errors in credit reports. If you would like to receive any of our other publications, or if you have any questions, please call us at 1-866-461-3222 (toll-free) or visit our Web site (www.fcac.gc.ca).

Dear Mr. Kiritharan:

I am responding to your undated letter to the Accounting Standards Board concerning your legal action against TD Canada Trust.

I regret I am unable to provide you with any of the information you requested. The Accounting Standards Board establishes standards for the preparation and presentation of the published financial statements of business enterprises. The Board does not prescribe requirements for internal recordkeeping, including details underlying the information set out in financial statements. It appears that you are acquainted with the standard dealing with impaired loans which is all that the Board has developed on that topic.
